

The New Quantum Technology Found Two Sank Continents

Maria Kuman^{1*}

¹Holistic Research Institute, Knoxville, TN, USA

Article history

Received 24 September 2025

Accepted 03 December 2025

Published 31 December 2025

How cite

Kuman, M., 2025. The New Quantum Technology Found Two Sank Continents. International Journal of Earth Sciences Knowledge and Applications 7 (3), 164-192. <https://doi.org/10.5281/zenodo.18099437>.

Contact

*Maria Kuman

holisticare@mariakuman.com (BPB)

Abstract

With the new quantum technology, two enormous anomalous structures the size of continents were located under the Atlantic Ocean and under the Pacific Ocean. I think, these are the sank continents of Atlántida under the Atlantic Ocean and the continent of Lemuria under the Pacific Ocean. They are now inside the Earth on top of the Hot Core of the Earth, and their mountain peaks transfer some of the heat of the Earth core to the Earth crust. This makes the places from which hot plasma erupt from the ground in Hawaii to be over the mountain tops of Lemuria. However, the scientists who found with the new quantum technology the anomalous structures with the size of continents under the Atlantic and the Pacific Oceans, tried to explain them with cosmic hypothesis instead of looking at the ancient history of the Earth.

Keywords: Latest quantum technology findings, Atlántida found on Earth's hot core, Lemuria found on Earth's hot core, Hawaiian volcanic activity, Lemuria

1. Introduction

In the journal Physics Today, v. 77 (12) 2024, an article was published "The Mysterious Massive Structures in the Earth's Deep Mantle" written by Prof. Ed Carnero and his post-graduate student Claire Richardson (Cornero and Richardson, 2024).

2. Speed Perturbations of the Seismic Wave Propagation Allowed Location of Anomalous Structures

The recently developed quantum technology allowed detection of two enormous anomalous structures sitting at the base of the Earth's mantle, on top of the hot Earth-core – mantle boundary (Fig. 1).

These anomalous structures with the size of large continents were – one under the Pacific Ocean and the other under the Atlantic Ocean and West Africa (Fig. 2).

3. Earth Volcanic Activity Is over the Heights of These Anomalous Formations

Since these anomalous formations with the size of continents sit on the hot Earth core, their heights are expected to be the hot spots, from where volcanos on Earth erupt. Thus, the active volcanos in Hawaii are expected to be over the heights of the anomalous formation (the size of a continent) found under the Pacific Ocean.

4. Explaining the Origin of These Anomalous Massive Formations

The authors of article (Cornero and Richardson, 2024) Prof. Ed Carnero and his post-graduate student Claire Richardson postulated cosmic origin of the present two anomalous structures with the size of big continents located with seismic waves (Quantum Technology). They were located inside the Earth at the boundary of the hot-Earth-Core and the Earth-mantel. The authors postulated that these anomalous formations are chunks of Theia - a Mars-sized planet, which hypothetically had collided with the proto-Earth to form the Moon.

The Rig Veda (Ram, 2013) of the Hindus says that the Sun gave birth of the Earth and the Moon. This was confirmed by contemporary studies of the ratio of the oxygen isotopes on the Earth and the Moon. They were found to be the same, which proves that the Earth and the Moon have common origin. The ratio of these oxygen isotopes was found to be different for the planet Mars, which means that the planet Mars did not originally belong to our Solar System.

According to Surya Siddhanta (1860), during conjunction of the planets Mars was sucked from the Sagittarius Dwarf Galaxy when the last was drifting through our Solar System on its way to the center of our Galaxy, where it still orbits.

This explains why Mars is the only planet in our Solar System without liquid-magma core, without volcanic activity, and without magnetism – it is an old and cold planet, which originally belonged to the old Sagittarius Dwarf Galaxy.

According to me, the anomalous structures with the size of continents found under the Atlantic and the Pacific Ocean are: 1/ the continent of Atlantis, which sank 9,500 years ago according to study of the glaciers, and 2/ the continent of Lemuria, which sank ~36,000 years ago according to study of the glaciers (confirmed by archeological finding that Japan was flooded by a Big Flood ~36,000 years ago).

I am certain that if we can find a way to determine the ratio of oxygen isotopes on these anomalous structures with the size of continents, they will have the same ratio of oxygen isotopes as the Earth, which will be proof that these are sunken earth continents (they do not have cosmic origin).

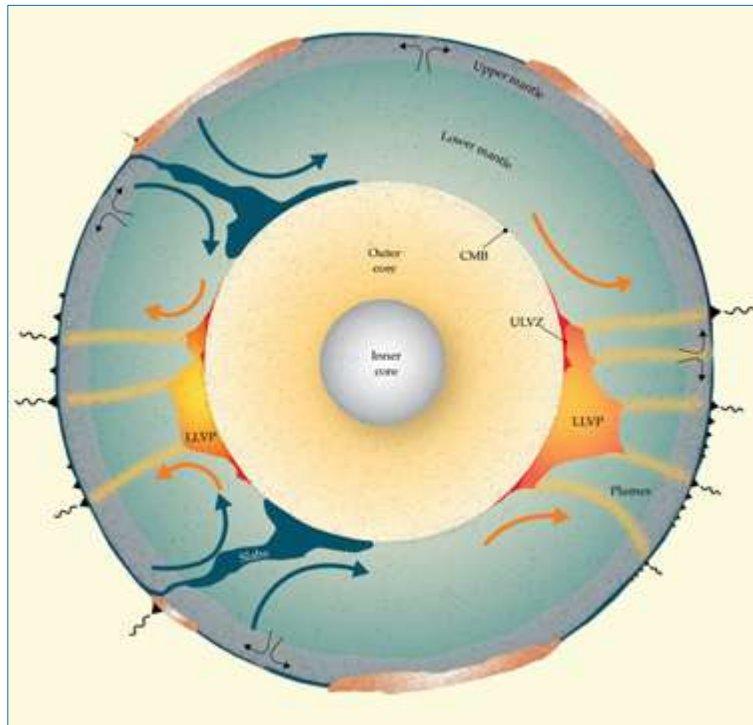

Fig. 1. The two continent-size formations extending about 1,200 km above the hot-core – mantel boundary

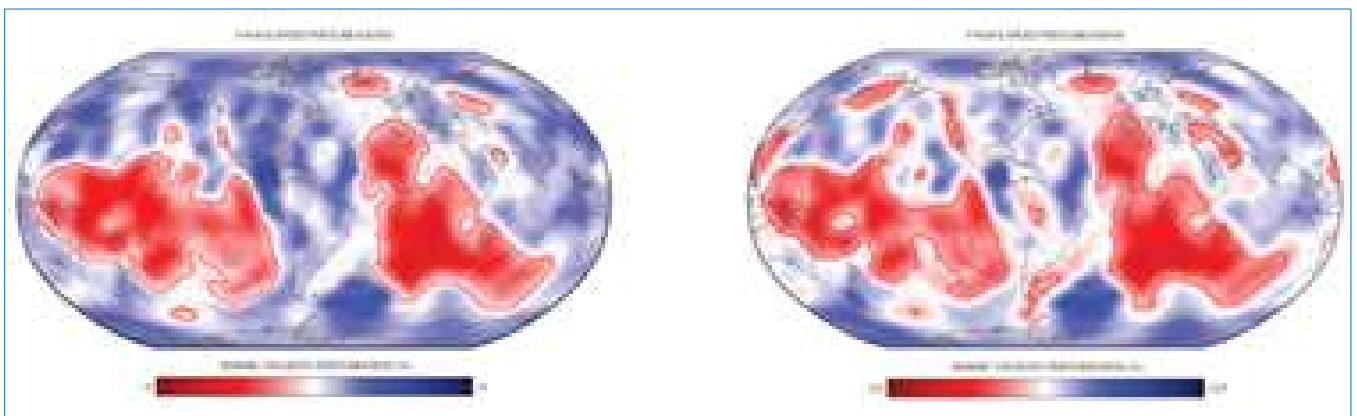

Fig. 2. Seismic-wave speed perturbation allowed location of the two formations at the hot-core – Earth-mantel boundary under the Pacific Ocean and under the Atlantic Ocean

5. Why Did the Continents Sink?

Both continents sank at the end of the Big Ice Age when the huge Ice Caps of the Big Ice Age were melting, and the weight was shifting from the Ice Caps to the ocean. I am certain that in this period of instability the dominant people’s negativity at the end of the Atlantean and Lemurian civilizations played the role of the small stone that flip the already unstable cart. This means that the found influence of people’s negativity on Earth (people’s negativity was found to decrease the magnetic field of the Earth (Kuman, 2021) was the final trigger of the continent sinking.

Or maybe it was planned by the Creator to be this way. We are material body and emotional Spirit, which comes from the Creator and makes us emotional. To give us freedom of choice, the Creator put everything related to the emotional Spirit in the Subconscious. (That is why the Emotional Brain is in the Subconscious). The HeartMath Institute in California found that Love creates Harmony. Thus, if we would 'Love one another, love our neighbors, and love our enemies', we will live in harmony and make everything around us to function harmoniously.

The Earth and its inhabitants are one self-regulated system. If instead of Love, which creates harmony, we choose to be negative, we have chosen the pathway of self-destruction. We are children of this Earth, and our magnetic fields are integrated with the magnetic field of the Earth. When human negativity becomes dominant on Earth, it sucks in the magnetic field of the Earth (Kuman, 2021). When the magnetic field of the Earth drops under a critical value, the Earth opens and swallows the whole continent with all the negative inhabitants on it.

6. Conclusion

In conclusion, I want to say that: 1/ the anomalous structure with the size of a continent found under the Pacific Ocean (at the border of Earth's mantle and the hot Earth's core) is the continent of Lemuria, which sank ~36,000 years ago (according to study of the glaciers); 2/ the anomalous structure with the size of a continent found under the Atlantic Ocean at the border of Earth's mantle and hot Earth's core) is the continent of Atlantis, which sank 9,500 years ago (according to study of the glaciers). I am certain that if we can find a way to determine the ratio of oxygen isotopes on these anomalous structures with the size of continents, they will have the same ratio of oxygen isotopes as the Earth, which will be proof that these are sunken earth continents.

Reference

- Cornero, E., Richardson, C., 2024. The Mysterious Massive Structures in the Earth's Deep Mantel. Physics Today 77 (12), 36-43. <https://doi.org/10.1063/pt.mzrx.ddag>.
- Kuman, M. 2021. The Negative Impact of Our Negative Thinking and Negative Emotions on the Earth's Magnetic Field, International Journal of Earth Science Knowledge and Applications 3 (2) 2021.
- Ram, T., 2013. The Hymns of Rig Veda, Delhi, India.
- Siddhanta, S., 1860. Surya Siddhanta, Delhi, India.